

Index

- Absent qualia hypothesis, 8
- Access consciousness, 9
 - disunified (split-brain patients), 112, 121–125
- Amputees. See Phantom limb experiences
- Anesthetization, and body image, 44
- Apple, unity of experiences of, 18
- Arm-movement example, 32
- Attention, and introspection, 10
- Auditory linguistic images, 80
 - and thought, 72–73, 79–80
- Automaton, split-brain patient as, 112, 117
- Awareness
 - introspective, 5, 22–25, 95–96
 - and bundle theory, 134
 - in representationalist account, 165
- Bayne, T., 20–21
- Beer-and-ham-sandwich example, for one experience view, 26–27
- Beliefs
 - contradictory, 115–116
 - and visual experiences, 175
- Benchley, Robert, 82
- Binding problem, 12
- Bird-watcher (case), 2, 6
- Black's/BLACK'S club (example), 161–162
- Blindsight, 121–123, 124, 125
- Block, N., 123–124, 125
- Bodily experience, 68
 - and perceptual consciousness, 68–78
 - unity of, 49, 62–66
- Bodily sensations, 49
 - of heat, 61
 - hunger pangs, 61
 - itches, 60–61
 - orgasm, 58–59
 - pains, 50–58, 59–60 (see also Pain)
 - tastes, 58, 68–69
 - thirst, 61
 - tickles, 60
 - tingles, 61
 - touch, 68–69
- Bodily unity, problem of, 62–66
- Body image, 43–49. See also General
 - bodily feeling
 - and conscious thoughts, 81
 - and experience of contact, 69
 - malleability of, 62
- Body transplants, and personal identity, 135–137, 149

- Brain, disembodied (examples), 71–75
- Brain transplant with split brain, 149–151
- Brief Encounter, The (case), 3, 6, 9–10
- Broad, C. D., 92
- Bundle theory of person, 133–134
objections to, 138–140
and subject-of-PF theory, 142
and unity of experience, 107
- Buried-alive/roller-coaster example, 76–78, 118–119
- Camus, P., 43–44
- Carnap, Rudolf, 106–107
- Casey, K., 55
- Chalmers, D., 20–21
- Cloud-and-droplets example, 29
- Colored phi phenomenon (red-green flashes), 90–91, 96–97
- Concrete individuals, and phenomenology, 168–169
- Consciousness
and Cartesian ego theory, 133 cases of, 2–5
and epileptics, 177n.
kinds of
access consciousness, 9, 112, 121–125
D-consciousness (discriminatory consciousness), 6, 8, 9
I-consciousness (introspective consciousness), 5–6, 7, 9, 10, 177n.8
P-consciousness (phenomenal consciousness), 7–11, 121–124, 126–129, 183n.8 (see also Phenomenal consciousness)
R-consciousness (responsive consciousness), 6, 9 single subject of, 118
and stream metaphor, 105 (see also Streams of consciousness)
as unified, xiv, 1 (see also at Unity)
- Conscious experiences. See Experience(s)
- Conscious thoughts, in unity with perceptual and bodily experiences, 78–81
- Contradictory beliefs, and split-brain patient, 115–116
- Copeland, Jack, 158
- Corpus callosum, 109. See also Split-brain patients
- Creature consciousness, 9
- Dainton, Barry, 90
- Dennett, G., 1, 56, 71
- Deny, G., 43–44
- Descartes, René
and ego theory of person, 133
and unified consciousness, 1
- Designators
rigid and precise, 151–156
vagueness of, 155–156
- Diachronic unity, 86–95
- Disassociation, reactive, 56
- Discriminatory consciousness (D-consciousness), 6
as creature consciousness, 9
without P-consciousness, 8
- Disembodied-brain examples, 71–75
- Distracted Philosopher, The (case), 2, 5
- Disunified access consciousness, in split-brain patients, 112, 121–126
- Disunified experiences, in hallucinations and illusions, 37–38
- Disunified phenomenal consciousness, and split-brain patients, 126–129, 134, 135

- Dog, sleeping (case), 4, 10–11
 Do-re-mi (musical scale) example, 87–88, 94, 97, 99–100, 106
 Dreamer, The (case), 4, 10
 Dretske, Fred, 24
- Eagleman, D., 91–92
 Ego theory of person, 133, 153–154
 objections to, 134–138
 Emotions, 81. See also Moods, felt Epileptics, and consciousness,
 177n.8
 Evans, Gareth, 153–154, 155, 157, 159, 162–163
 Everest, Mount, as vagueness
 example, 156, 157, 158,
 183–184n.3
 Experience(s)
 bodily, 68–78 (see also Bodily sensations)
 disunified, 37–38
 individuation of through time, 34, 98–99
 and introspection, 22–25, 95–96
 one experience view, 25–35, 39–40
 for bodily experience, 65–66
 and individuating of experiences
 through time, 98
 and perceptual-bodily unity, 76 PANIC (poised, abstract, nonconceptual, intentional content) of, 176
 as maximal PANIC states, 40, 99
 perceptual phenomenal or subjective aspects of (case), 3–4, 8
 presentness in, 86
 redundancy in generation of, 127–128
 unity of, 17–41
 of unifying relation, 21–22
 Experience, unity of. See at Unity
- Experienced present. See Specious
 present(s)
 Externalist representationalism, 167, 174–175
- Feeling(s). See also Bodily
 sensations
 phenomenal or subjective aspects of (case), 3–4, 8
 physical basis of, 8–9
 as private, 50
 of succession, vs. succession of feelings, 86, 102
 Felt moods, 81–84
 persistence of, 85–86
 Flash-lag illusion, 91
 Fregean representationalism,
 167–168
 Fuzzy logic, 160
- General bodily feeling, 43, 48, 63
 as torso-relative, 48–49
 unity of, 47
 and unity of bodily experience, 64 Gestalt unity, 13
 and McGurk effect, 178n.10
 Glass partitions metaphor, 22–24
 Gregory, Richard, 44, 45
- Hallucinations
 and concrete individuals, 168–169
 disunified experiences in, 37–38
 in “Haunted” Graveyard case, 5, 11 and introspective awareness, 24 phantom limb pain as, 54
 and phenomenal content, 36
 and representation, 64
 and unity of experience through time, 98
 Handwriting example, for one experience view, 25–26
 “Haunted” Graveyard, The (case), 5, 11

- Headache, discontinuous (case), 3, 6–7
- Heat, feeling of, 61
- Here
experience of, 70
world in relationship to, 75
- Hume, David, on unity of experience, 102, 105
and bundle theory of person, 107, 133
- Hunger pangs, 61
- Hybrid representationalism, 168, 169, 172–174
- Identity, personal. See Person and personal identity
- Illusions
disunified experiences in, 37–38
of feeling someone else’s nose, 61–62 flash-lag, 91
and phenomenal content, 36
“Impossible figure,” 38, 39
“In,” and pain, 51–52, 53
- Individuation of experiences,
through time, 34, 98–99
- Infinite regress, in problem of unity of conscious experiences, 21–22
- Internalist representationalism, 167
- International Association for the Study of Pain, 50
- Introspection
and act of attention, 10
and awareness of experience, 22–25, 95–96
and displaced perception, 24
- Introspective awareness, 5
and bundle theory, 134
- Introspective consciousness
(I-consciousness), 5–6
as creature consciousness, 9
and epileptics, 177n.8
without P-consciousness, 7, 10
- Introspective unity, 13
vs. phenomenal unity, 20
- Inverted qualia hypothesis, 8
- “Is,” of identity vs. of composition, 142–143
- Itches, 60–61
- Jackson, Frank, 170
- James, William, 86, 102, 104
- Kant, Immanuel
and phenomenal unity, 20
and subject unity, 12–13
and unified consciousness, 1
- Leibniz’s Law, 29, 154, 157–158, 162
- Lewis, David, 155–156, 157, 160
- Linguistic auditory images, 80
and thought, 72–73, 79–80
- Logical Structure of the World, The* (Carnap), 106
- “Looks” talk, 35, 169–172
- Macbeth, disunified dagger
experience of, 37, 38, 80
- Mach, Ernst, 173
- Madame I (patient with lost body image), 43–44, 45, 62, 69, 73–74
- Materialist form of ego theory on person, 135–138
- Maund, Barry, 63
- Maximal PANIC states, 40, 99
- McGurk effect, 178n.10
- Melzack, R., 55
- Memory, short-term phenomenal, 87
- Miller, I., 89–90
- Millian representationalism, 168, 172, 173, 174
- Monet-painting example, 47–48
- Monty Python* viewing example, 74–75

- Moods, felt, 81–84
 persistence of, 85–86
- Movie analogy, 99
- Multiple experiences, and problem of unity, 17–21
- Multiple personality disorder
 and bundle theory of person, 138–139
 and persons as material substances, 137–138 and single brain as more than one person, 142 and split brains, 111–112, 113–116
- Musical scale (do-re-mi) example, 87–88, 94, 97, 99–100, 106
- Nagel, T., 117–120, 125
- Neurophysiological unity, 12
- Neuropsychology, and unified consciousness, 1
- Nonreductive strong representationalism, 167
- Nontransitivity of phenomenal unity, 113, 129–132
- Object unity, 11–12
 and phenomenal unity, 19
- One experience view, 25–35, 39–40
 for bodily experience, 65–66
 and individuating of experiences through time, 98
 and perceptual-bodily unity, 76
- Order of representations, vs. represented order, 90
- Orgasm, 58–59
- Pain(s), 50–58, 59–60
 affective component of, 55–56, 57–58
 and belief production, 175–176
 and causal sense of “in,” 51–52 and consciousness, 3, 7
 localization of, 63
 physical basis of, 9
 and projection, 63–64
- Painting example, 47–48
- PANIC (poised, abstract, nonconceptual, intentional content) states, 176
 maximal, 40, 99
- Parfit, Derek, 134, 135, 147–148, 160–161
- Party Animal, The (case), 4, 6
- Peacocke, Chris, 173
- Perception, and consciousness, 2
 in Distracted Philosopher case, 2
- Perceptual consciousness and bodily experience, 68–78
 D-consciousness as, 6 (see also Discriminatory consciousness)
- Perceptual experience(s) phenomenal or subjective aspects of (case), 3–4, 8
 presentness in, 86
 redundancy in generation of, 127–128
 unity of
 and one experience view, 25–35, 39–40
 as problem, 17–25
 and synchronic phenomenal unity, 36–41
- Person and personal identity bundle theory on, 133–134
 objections to, 138–140
 and subject-of-PF theory, 142
 and unity of experience, 107
 ego theory on, 133, 153–154
 objections to, 134–138
 problem cases for body transport, 147–148
 radical discontinuity between life stages, 150–153, 162 split-brain subject, 111–112, 115–117, 143–144

- Person and personal identity (cont.)
 split-brain transplants, 148–151
 teletransportation, 144–148
 as subject of distinct psychological framework (PF), 140–143
 and unity of experience, xiv
 through time, 102–104
 vagueness in, 154–163
PF. See Psychological framework
- Phantom limb experiences, 45–46
 as misrepresentation, 49
 and pain, 54
 as representing bodily disturbances, 61
- Phenomenal character, attended and unattended, 10
- Phenomenal consciousness
 (P-consciousness), 7–11, 183n.8
 and blindsight, 122–124, 125 without D-consciousness, 8
 disunified (split-brain patients), 126–129, 134, 135
 and hypotheses of inverted and absent qualia, 8
 without I-consciousness, 7, 10
 and object unity, 12
- Phenomenal flow, 108
- Phenomenal look, 169–172
- Phenomenal memory,
 short-term, 87
- Phenomenal succession, 101
- Phenomenal unity, 13, 15, 20, 36, 84, 107
 direct and indirect, 100
 vs. introspective unity, 20
 nontransitivity of, 129–132
 as relation between qualities experienced, 102
 synchronic (of simultaneous experiences), 19, 35, 36–41, 84
 and wine taster example, 27
- Phenomenal unity relation, 95, 107, 152–153. See also Unity of experience through time
 and moods, 83
 nontransitivity of, 113
- Phenomenological unity, 19, 20–21
 of bodily experiences or sensations, 49, 63, 66
 and sense-specific experiences, 28
- Phenomenology
 and concrete individuals, 168
 of occurrent thoughts, 79–80 technicolor, 8
 of thinking, 80
- Poised, abstract, nonconceptual,
 intentional content (PANIC), 176
 maximal, 40, 99
- Pot-and-statue example, 30–31, 31, 40, 48
- PPC (principle of presentational occurrence), 89–90
- Precise designator, 155–156
- Present, specious. See Specious
 present(s)
- Presentational occurrence,
 principle of (PPC), 89–90
- Presentness, 86
- Psychological framework (PF), 141–143, 146, 148
 and radical discontinuity
 between life stages, 150–152, 162
 and split-brain transplant, 149–150
 and teletransportation, 144, 145–148
- Putnam, Hilary, 79
- Qualia, hypotheses on of absent qualia, 8
 of inverted qualia, 8

- Qualities
 in bodily experiences, 66
 in "looks" talk, 169–172
 and pain, 55, 179n.4
 and phenomenal concepts, 168
 and phenomenal succession, 101 phenomenal unity of, 36
 direct and indirect, 100
 unity as relation between, 102
- Ramachandran, V. S., 61–62
- Reactive disassociation, 56
- Red-green flashes experiment
 (colored phi phenomenon), 90–91, 96–97
- Red-square-and-green-triangle
 example, 39–40, 40–41
- Reductive strong
 representationalism, 167
- Referred pains, 54
- Reid, Thomas, 140
- Rene (multiple personality patient), 137–138, 138–139
- Representationalism
 (representational approach), xvi, 84, 165–176
 and bodily sensations, 61
 and phantom limbs, 61
 externalist, 167, 174–175
 Fregean, 167–168
 hybrid, 168, 169, 172–174
 internalist, 167
 Millian, 168, 172, 173, 174
 and pain, 52–54, 64
 representational content of, 58, 59
 strong, 166
 nonreductive, 167
 reductive, 167
 weak, 166
- Represented order, vs. order of representations, 90
- Responsive consciousness
 (R-consciousness), 6
 as creature consciousness, 9
- Reynolds, Mary, 138, 139, 141, 142
- Rigid designator, 155
- Roller-coaster/buried-alive
 example, 76–78, 118–119
- Sacks, Oliver, body-image
 experience of, 45
- Sejnowski, T., 91–92
- Sellars, Wilfrid, 21
- Sensation, bodily. See Bodily
 sensations
- Sensation, streamlike quality of, 85.
See also Streams of consciousness
- Sense-datum theorists, 178n.4
- Sequence of experiences. See Unity of experience through time
- Shoemaker, Sydney, 21
- Simultaneous experiences,
 phenomenal unity of, 19.
See also Synchronic
 phenomenal unity
- Single experience. See One
 experience view
- Sleep, and consciousness, 104, 182n.6
 and dreaming (cases), 4, 10
 and pain (case), 3, 7
- Sleeping Dog, The (case), 4, 10–11
- Smells, 69–70
- Sounds, 69–70
- Spatial unity, 12
- Specious present(s), 87–92, 99–100
 overlapping, 92–95
 and phenomenal unity, 100
- Sperry, Roger, 109
- Split-brain patients, 109–113
 and disunified access consciousness, 112, 121–125

- Split-brain patients (continued)
 and disunified phenomenal
 consciousness, 126–129, 134, 135
 generally unified consciousness of, 126, 128–129
 as indeterminate number of persons, 112, 117–120
 and multiple personality disorder, 111–112, 113–116
 and nontransitivity of phenomenal unity, 129–132
 and Parfit on ego theory, 134, 135
 and personal identity, 111–112, 115–117, 143–144
 and phenomenal unity, 20
 and simultaneous phenomenal disunification, 37
 as unconscious automatons, 112, 117
 and unity of experience through
 time, 102–104
- Split-brain transplant example, 149–151
- Star Trek* television series, and
 teletransportation, 147
- Statue-and-pot example, 30–31, 31, 40, 48
- Strawson, Galen, 104–105, 107
- Streamlike quality of sensation, 85
- Streams of consciousness, 104–106, 107–108
 and bundle theory of person, 139
 Carnap on, 106–107
 and split-brain patients, 104, 112–113, 126, 128
- Strong representationalism, 166
 nonreductive, 167
 reductive, 167
- Subjects of consciousness and action, persons as, 140, 143
- Subject unity, 12–13
 on bundle theory, 134 (see also Bundle theory of person)
 on ego theory, 133 (see also Ego theory of person)
 higher-order, 13
- Succession. See also Unity of
 experience through time experiencing of, 106
 of feelings, vs. feeling of succession, 86, 102
 phenomenal, 101
 representation of, 101
- Synchronic (of simultaneous experiences) phenomenal unity, 19, 35, 36–41, 84
- Tastings, 58, 68–69
- Technicolor phenomenology, 8
- Teletransportation, 144–148
- Thirst, 61
- Thought(s)
 in auditory linguistic image, 72–73, 79–80
 sequence of, 85
 in unity with perceptual and bodily experiences, 78–81
- Tickles, 60
- Tingling sensations, 61
- Torso
 and experience of here, 70
 and general bodily feeling, 48–49
 viewpoint related to, 71
- Touch, 68–69
- Transitivity, phenomenal unity's
 lack of, 129–132
- Twin Earth and PFs, 142
 and phenomenology of occurrent thought, 79–80
- Unconscious automaton,
 split-brain patient as, 112, 117
- Unity of consciousness, 1

- Unity of experience, xiv
 - of bodily experience, 49
 - problem of, 62–66
 - and handwriting example, 26
 - kinds of
 - Gestalt unity, 13, 178n.10
 - introspective unity, 13, 20
 - neurophysiological unity, 12
 - object unity, 11–12, 19
 - phenomenal unity, 13, 15, 20, 36, 84, 107 (see also Phenomenal unity)
 - subject unity, 12–13, 133, 134
- Unity of experience through time, 95–101
 - and assumption of individual experiences, 107
 - examples of, 85–86
 - and Hume, 102, 105, 107, 133
 - and personal identity, 102–104
 - and presentness, 86
 - and specious present, 87–95, 99–100
 - and stream(s) of consciousness, 104–106, 107–108
 - Carnap on, 106–107
- Unity of general bodily feeling, 47
- Unity of perceptual and bodily experiences, occurrent
 - thoughts, and moods, 67–68
 - conscious thoughts in, 78–81
 - and moods, 83–84
 - perceptual-body unity, 68–78
- Unity of perceptual experience at a time
 - and one experience view, 25–35, 39–40 (see also One experience view)
 - as problem, 17–21
 - difficulties in, 21–25
 - and synchronic phenomenal unity, 36–41
- Unity of persons, 133, 134.
 - See also* Person and personal identity
- Vagueness
 - epistemic theorists on, 183–184n.3
 - in personal identity, 154–163
- Vesuvius, Mount, as identity
 - example, 30
- Viewpoint, for vision, 71–72
- Vision, and bodily experience, 70–72
- Visual experience
 - and beliefs, 175
 - and continuous consciousness (case), 4, 7
 - and introspection, 23–24
 - as unified experience, 28–35
 - viewpoint of, 71
- Visual system, unifying function of, 11–12
- Waterfall effect, 38
- Weak representationalism, 166
- Wiggins, David, 149
- Wine Taster, The (case), 2–3, 6
- Wine tasting, unity of experiences
 - in, 18, 19, 27, 31, 32–33, 34–35
- Writing example, for one
 - experience view, 25–26
- Zadeh, L., 160
- Zombies, 9