Absolutism, linguistic. See Linguistic absolutism Aesthetics, positivist treatment of, 2 Aletheic semantic theory, 178-179, Analogy, in characterization of entities, 60 Analytic conception of language, xiii-xiv, 31-40, 41, 77, 165 conventionalist version of, 36-40, 77 - 78and Cornman argument, 101-102 inadequacy of, 78-80 linguistic absolutism of, 34, 39-40, 50 and metaphysics, xv, 79-80 and ordinary-language philosophy, and Picture Theory of meaning, 34-36 Quine's impact on, xiv, 96-98 rationalism in, 78-79 and semantic conception of truth, 130 and Tarski's definition, 165 and truth-meaning relation, 171, 176 uses of, 33-34 Analytic metaphysics, xii-xiii Analytic statements. See also Logicomathematical truths positivists on, 1-3, 62 and quasi-syntactical sentences, 13

Quine on, 108, 109-111 Aristotle as analyst, 7 correspondence theory of, 117, 137, and philosophy as definition, 12 Tarski on, 139 Artificial language. See also Ideal language and linguistic frameworks, 61 and linguistic reform, xiv and ordinary language, 81-82 and Quine on logical truth, 66-67 Atomic propositions. See also Logical atomism; Protocol sentences in Russell theory, 125–126, 151 semantics of, 131-132 Austin, John L., xii, 84, 85 Axiomatic definition, and Tarski's method, 143-144 Ayer, Alfred J. on logic and mathematics, 3 on philosophy, 7, 12, 15, 33 and protocol sentences, 135 on psychology, 24

Basic propositions. See Atomic on ideal language, xii, 19-20

Belief, irreducibility of, 180

propositions

Bergmann, Gustav

Bergmann, Gustav (continued) and ordinary language, 82, 85 vs. Strawson, 88 Bergson, Henri vs. Goodman, 30 and metaphysics, 78 on veil of language, 25–26, 28 Black, Max, 104 British Empiricists, 7

Carnap, Rudolf and analysis, 3, 10-11, 185 and Bergmann, 20-21 on extralinguistic appeals, 25, 30, 88 on internal vs. external questions, 17–18, 49–50, 52, 61–62, 99 on linguistic frameworks, 17-19, 21, 28-29, 49-55, 60-63, 73 linguistic reinterpretation by, 12-21, 28-29, 33, 34, 41 on linguistic rules, 37-38, 50-55, 72, 77, 120–122 logical construction by, 8, 11, 92, 130, 191 on logical truth, 62-63, 68-69, 71, 110–111, 192 and meaning of protocol sentences, 132-135 and metaphysics, 79-80 and ontological assumption, 51-55, 58-59, 62-63, 90-91, 96, 99 and ordinary-language philosophy, 82, 89, 90–91 pragmatism of, 18-19, 21, 60-61, 74 on philosophy, 77, 190 physicalist language of, 136, 144 on quasi-syntactical sentences, 12-13 and quest for certainty, 130 Quine's opposition to, 41-42, 49-53, 60-62, 63, 96, 97, 122 semiotic analysis by, 4 Strawson on, 88 and Tarski, 120, 123, 137-138, 152, 153, 158 and truth, 115, 120-122 vs. Wittgenstein, 88

"Carnap and Logical Truth" (Quine), 42, 63 "Category-Words and Linguistic Frameworks" (Martin), 55 Certainty, quest for, 129-130 Chomsky, Noam, 181 Circularity, in Quine's ontological relativity, 47, 96 Clarification, and reduction, 45-46, 59, 66, 99, 166 Clear and distinct ideas, through logical analysis, 129-130 Coherence theory of truth, 116, 132 Concept of Mind (Ryle), 85 "Concept of Truth in Formalized Languages, The" (Tarski), 145 "Conceptual boat," 25, 31, 105 Conceptualization and Carnap viewpoint, 89, 90–91 explicit analysis of, 78-80 Kuhn on, 89-90 as object of introspection, 104-105 and ordinary language, 81, 84, 89 and Quine relativistic thesis, 96–98 Constructionalism 82-84 Conventionalism, 36-40 and Carnap, 37-38, 50-55, 72, 77, 120-122 and fact vs. logic and ontology, 72, 75–76 failure of, 75–76, 78 legislative postulation as, 71-73, 76 and logical truth, 62, 63-66, 68, *7*0–*7*2, *7*5–*7*6 and ontological assumption, 51-55, 63, 66, 68–72, 75–76, 99 and picture theory, 36, 37, 38, 41 Convention T, in Tarski's definition, 142, 147, 151, 160 Comman, James, 98-102, 187 Correspondence theory of truth. See also Picture Theory of meaning; Semantic conception of truth Russell's version of, 124-127, 151 as semantic conception, 116, 117, 118 and Tarski, 136, 157-158, 171

Davidson, Donald, 154, 173-175, 177, 178, 179, 180, 183-184 Definite descriptions, Russell's theory of, 9, 11 Definition in metaphysics vs. analysis, 106 and nature of philosophy, 7, 12, 21 Quine on, 110 Wittgenstein on, 87 Denotation. See Reference Descartes, 129, 130, 131, 191 Descriptive metaphysics of Bergmann, 20 of Strawson, 88, 89, 93 Discursive postulation, 71 Double relativity, in Quine's viewpoint, 43, 48, 49, 116. See also Relativistic thesis

"Empiricism, Semantics, and Ontology" (Carnap), 17, 28, 49, 51, 82

Epistemology and language acquisition, 177 through logical analysis, 3, 131 philosophy as, 79, 188–190 and science, 195

"Establishment of Scientific Semantics, The" (Tarski), 138 Ethics, positivist treatment of, 2

Euclidean geometry, Quine on, 63–65 "Existence by convention." See Conventionalism, and ontological assumption

Extension. See Reference External questions, in Carnap system, 17–19, 50, 52, 61–62, 63, 99

Falsehood
Plato's dilemma over, 124
Russell's treatment of, 125, 127
Field, Hartry, 117–118, 165–166, 168–169, 170, 172
Formal explication, futility of, 80. See also Relativistic thesis
Formalization of Logic (Carnap), 138

Formalized languages in natural language, 154 in Tarski's definition, 141, 145-146, 153 Formal linguistic system, 166 Foundations of Logic and Mathematics (Carnap), 138 Frege, Gottlob, 8, 107, 109, 155, 156

Gödel, Kurt, 36, 130, 147, 151, 155, 191
Goodman, Nelson, 29–31, 37
Grammatical (logical) particles and constructions and indeterminacy of translation, 43–45, 93–94
and linguistic rules, 68

Hampshire, Stuart, xiii
Hare, R. M., xii, 85
Harman, Gilbert, 108
Heidegger, Martin, 9
Hempel, Carl, 132
Hilbert, David, 36
Hintikka, Jaakko, 117, 118, 120
Hiz, Henry, 178–179, 185
Hobbes, Thomas, 7
Hume, David, 23, 109, 130
Husserl, Edmund, 104
Hypotheses, interdependence of, 73–74

Ideal language
Bergmann on, xii, 19-20
and constructionalism, 82-83 and metaphysics, 20-21, 26-27 and ordinary language, 81-84, 85 and Picture Theory, 34-36
positivists' original conception of, 28-29 Indeterminacy of meaning (translatic

Indeterminacy of meaning (translation) and language acquisition, 186 and problem of meaning, 111, 169–170

Quine on, 43–45, 92–97, 99, 102, 114, 174, 181–183

25

Indeterminacy of meaning (continued) and underdetermination of physical theory, 181-183 Individuation, Quine on, 43-46, 93–94, 164 Inscrutability of reference. See Referential inscrutability Intension. See Meaning Internal vs. external questions, Carnap on, 17-18, 49-50, 52, 61-62, 99 Interpretation. See also Indeterminacy of translation Carnap on, 52-53 explicit, 53-54, 69, 73, 81, 92 full, 47, 53, 64, 68-69, 81, 92, 95-96 and indeterminacy of translation, 186 presuppositions of, 175-176, 179-181 and science, 184 and underdetermination of theory, 181-183 Introduction to metaphysics (Bergson),

Kant (Kantianism)
as analyst, 7
and analyticity, 109 and metaphysical excess, 5
in ordinary-language philosophy, 88-89
and positivist program, 23-24, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31-32
Kraft, Victor, 13
Kripke, Saul, 168
Kuhn, T. S., xii, 89-90

Language, See also Analytic conception of language; Linguistic reinterpretation of philosophy acceptance of forms of, 18–19 (see also Linguistic frameworks, of Carnap) formal vs. material mode of, 13–16, 106 interpretation of, 47, 175–176, 179–183, 184, 186 (see also Interpretation) learning of, 176-177 logically perfect, 126, 128, 131 (see also Ideal language) meaning vs. truth of, 21-23, 176-179, 183 (see also Meaning; Reference; Truth) positivist focus on, 1-4, 7 rules of, 37–38, 50–55, 75–76, 78, 98-100, 120-122 (see also Conventionalism) semantics vs. syntax of, 4 (see also Semantics; Syntax) understanding of, 175-176, 177 "use" vs. "usage" of, 85 Language, ordinary. See Ordinary language Legislative postulation, 71-73, 76, 91, 92, 193 Leibniz, 19, 109, 110 Lesniewski, 140 Lewis, C. I., 21, 74 Linguistic absolutism, 34, 39-40, 50 and Picture Theory, 34-36 vs. relativistic thesis, 50 Linguistic analysis. See Logical analysis Linguistic doctrine of logical truth. See Conventionalism, and logical truth Linguistic frameworks, of Carnap, 17-19, 21, 28-29, 49-55, 60-63, 73 and linguistic rules, 37-38, 50-55, 77 and pragmatism, 18-19, 21, 51, 60 - 61Linguistic Kantianism, xiii, xiv. See also Kant (Kantianism), and positivist program and Carnap, 28-29, 88 and Tarski, 157 Linguistic mysticism, 25-26, 97-98 Linguistic phenomenology, 84-85 Linguistic proposals, metaphysics as, 17-19. See also Linguistic frameworks, of Carnap Linguistic rationalism in analytic conception of language, 78-79

knowledge of, 105

and relativistic thesis, 97-98 Linguistic reform, xiv. See also Analytic conception of language; Artificial language; Ideal language Linguistic reinterpretation of philosophy, 12-21 and Bergmann, 19-20 Carnap's efforts in, 12-21, 28-29, 34, and definition, 7, 12 and metaphysics, 12, 15-21, 79-80 Logical analysis. See also Analytic conception of language; Semantics and analytic-synthetic distinction, 1-2 and atomic sentences, 131–132 Cartesian quest in, 129-130, 131 and meaning-truth dichotomy, 3, 21-23 and metaphysics, 1-2, 9-11, 26-27, 33–34, 132, 135, 187 philosophy as, 3-4, 21-24, 37, 41, 128, 190-192, 194-195 and Picture Theory, 35 and positivism, 1-4 vs. psychology, 24 Russell's successes in, 8-10, 11, 128-130, 131 Logical atomism. See also Positivism as analytic metaphysics, xii and ordinary-language philosophy, positivist commitment to, 131 and Russell correspondence theory, xii, 125-126 and Wittgenstein, 125, 127 Logical Investigations (Husserl), 104 Logically perfect language, 126, 128, 129, 131 Logical positivism. See Positivism Logical Syntax of Language (Carnap), 12, 16, 133, 138, 144, 185 Logicism, and Cornman critique of Quine, 100-101 Logico-mathematical truth. See also Analytic statements Carnap on, 62-63, 68-69, 71, 110–111, 192 and interdependence of hypotheses, 73–76 positivist account of, 2–3, 62 Quine on, 41–42, 63–66, 70–73 and science, 72–73, 79 Logische Aufbau der Welt (Carnap), 8, 11, 130, 131, 134, 191

Malcolm, Norman, 103 Manual of translation, Quine on, 48, 96, 120, 122, 173, 174, 183 Martin, R. M., 55-58, 67 Mathematical Logic (Quine), 156 Mathematics. See also Logicomathematical truth; Set theory logical derivation of, 8, 11, 128, 129 non-Euclidean geometry, 63-65, 191 and role of convention, 36 Meaning. See also Reference; Semantics and atomic sentences, 131, 132 and Carnap, 68, 132-134 irreducibility of, 180 and language acquisition, 176-177 museum theory of, 109 ordinary-language-philosophy examination of, 84-85 positivist emphasis on, 3, 21-24, 73 Quine on, 108-111, 113, 114-115, 169, 183–184 vs. reference, 107-109 and truth, 21-23, 176-179, 183 Meaning and Necessity (Carnap), 120 Metalanguage in describing linguistic rules, 36 in Tarski's definition, 140, 141, 142–144, 146, 154–158 Metaphysics analytic, xii–xiii, xv classical, xii and conventionalism, 37, 38-39 Cornman invoking of, 102 and ideal language, 20-21, 26-27 as linguistic proposals, 17-19 and linguistic reinterpretation, 12,

15-21, 79-80

Metaphysics (continued) and logical analysis, 1-2, 9-11, 26–27, 33–34, 132, 135, 187 and Picture Theory, 35-36, 37 positivist rejection of, xiii-xiv, 1-2, 3, 6-7, 9-11, 26, 37 post-Kantian debaucheries of, 5-6, 7-8 Russellian attack on, 9-11 and science, 195 and semantics, 102-106 Mill, John Stuart, 2, 7 Models of formal linguistic system, 166 Quine on, 47 in Tarski's definition of satisfaction, Moore, G. E., 103, 124, 126, 139 Museum theory of meaning, 109 Mysticism, linguistic, 25-26, 97-98 Naming. See Reference

Natural languages, Tarski's objection to, 145. See also Ordinary language Natural science. See Science, empirical Neurath, Otto, 25, 28, 105, 132, 135, 136

Non-Euclidean geometries and analysis, 191
Quine on, 63–65

Normative discipline(s)
positivist treatment of, 2 science as, 193

"Notes on the Theory of Reference" (Quine), 111, 115

Object language, in Tarski's definition, 140, 141, 142–144, 146, 154–158
"On Carnap's Views on Ontology" (Quine), 42
Ontological assumption. See also Ontological relativity; Relativistic thesis and Carnap, 51–55, 58–59, 62–63, 90–91, 96, 99 and convention, 51–55, 63, 66, 68–69, 70–72, 75–76, 99

elimination vs. initiation of, 58-59 and interdependence of hypotheses, 73-76 and legislative postulation, 70-73 Martin on, 55-58, 67 and ontological commitment, 100-101 Quine vs. Carnap on, 41-42, 49-50, 60–62 Ontological commitment, Quine's criterion of, 100-101, 111 Ontological relativity. See also Indeterminacy of meaning; Relativistic thesis and Davidson's proposal, 175 and Field's account, 168-169 and priority of truth 172-173 and problems of meaning, 111, 169-170 Quine's thesis of, xii, 42-49, 53, 60-62, 92, 95-97 and satisfaction, 145 and semantic conception of truth, 118-120 and Tarski's definition, 158–164, 169, 170, 171 "Ontological Relativity" (Quine), xi-xii, 42, 99, 105, 114, 123, 169 "On What There Is" (Quine), 100 Ordinary language and formalized languages, 154 and ideal language, 81-84, 85 implicit understanding through, 81 and relativistic thesis, 96 and Tarski's definition, 153-154 Wittgenstein on, 84 Ordinary-language philosophy, xii, xiv-xv, 84 and analytic conception of language, 88-89 method of, 84-88 Ostensive definition and learning Carnap on, 131-132 Cornman on, 99-100, 103 Quine on, 43 (see also Indeterminacy of meaning)

Wittgenstein on, 87, 93
Our Knowledge of the External World
(Russell), 128-129, 130

Paradigm schemata, 111-113, 119-120, 142 Paradoxes. See Semantic paradoxes Phenomenalism and Carnap on philosophic controversy, 15, 16, 19 positivist commitment to, 26-28 Phenomenology, linguistic, 84-85 Philosophical Investigations (Wittgenstein), 86, 93 Philosophy analytic approach to, 106 Carnap on, 77, 190 and conventionalist view, 38 as definitional, 7, 12, 21 as epistemology, 79 linguistic reinterpretation of, 12-21, 187, 194 as logical analysis, 3-4, 21-24, 37, 41, 128, 190–192, 194–195 "naturalist" view of, 192-195 as ordinary-language analysis, 84-85 positivist view of, 3-4, 6-7, 12, 21-23, 37, 77-78 Quine on, 188, 189, 192-193, 195 role of, 187-195 and science, 21, 38, 188-195 and semantic inquiry, 186-187 theory of, 190 as theory of truth, 188-190, 194 Wittgenstein on, 9, 32, 128 Picture Theory of meaning. See also Correspondence theory of truth; Meaning; Semantics and conventionalism, 36, 37, 38, 41 and Cornman view, 98 and ideal language, 34-36 and metaphysics, 35-36, 37 and ordinary-language philosophy, 85, 92 Russell appeal to, 27, 34 Plato, 7, 117, 124, 139, 176

Popper, Karl, 132, 137, 152, 153 Positivism and analytic conception of language, 31–40 and analytic truth, 1-3, 62 dilemma of, 26–28, 131–135 and Kant, 23-24, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31-32 and linguistic analysis, 1-2, 3-4, 7, 130-132 (see also Linguistic reinterpretation of philosophy; Logical analysis) and meaning-truth distinction, 3, 21–24, 73 on metaphysics, xiii-xiv, 1–2, 3, 6–7, 9–11, 26, 37 on normative disciplines, 2 on philosophy, 3-4, 6-7, 12, 21-23, *37, 77–7*8 Schlick vs. Neurath schools of, 131-132, 135 on science, 2, 8, 22–24, 38 Postulation, discursive, 71 Postulation, legislative, 71-73, 76, 91, 92, 193 Pragmatics, in Carnap proposals, 4 Pragmatism, in Carnap view, 18-19, 21, 51, 60-61, 74 Principia Mathematica (Russell and Whitehead), 8, 27, 82, 126, 128, 129, 130, 151, 152 Principles of Mathematics, The (Russell), Proposals, linguistic, metaphysics as, 17-19. See also Linguistic frameworks, of Carnap Protocol sentences, 131, 133-135. See also Atomic propositions; Logical atomism Pseudo-object sentences, 13 Quasi-syntactical sentences, 12-13

Quest for certainty, logical analysis on,

Questions, external vs. internal, 17–19

129-130

Quine, W. V., xi-xii, 41-42 and analytic conception of language, xiv, 96-98 on analyticity, 108, 109-111 vs. Carnap, 41-42, 49-53, 60-62, 63, 96, 97, 122 on clarification as reduction, 59, 66, on the conceptual and doctrinal, 129 vs. Cornman, 100 on definition, 110 and Field, 168 on formalized languages, 154 on indeterminacy of meaning, 43-45, 92-97, 99, 102, 114, 174, 181-183 and individuation, 43-46, 93-94, 164 on introduction of theoretical entities, 59-60 on language acquisition, 176, 177-178 on legislative postulation, 70-73 on logical truth, 41-42, 63-66, 70-76 on meaning, 169, 183-184 on meaning and reference, 108-115 ontological commitment criterion of, 100–101, 111 ontological relativity of, xii, 42-49, 53, 60–62*,* 92, 95–97 paradigm schemata of, 111-113, 119-120 and philosophy's role, 188, 189, 192–193, 195 radical translation of, 46, 102, 122, 169-170, 175-176 (see also Radical translation) on reference, 43-47, 93-95, 99, 100, 108, 111–115, 141 relativistic thesis of, xii, 46-47, 91-98, 170 (see also Relativistic thesis) on synonymy, 108, 109-111, 114, 115, 186 and Tarski, 113, 123, 139, 156, 171 on truth, 111-113, 119-120, 123, 145, 158, 174, 178 on underdetermination of theory, 181, 189

on unity of knowledge, 72-75

Radical translation vs. Carnap, 122 and Davidson proposal, 173 and Field account, 169 fundamental principles of, 175-176 and indeterminacy of description, 102 and language learning, 176 and meaning, 115, 169-170 and quantification, 164 and referential inscrutability, 46 and truth, 120, 123, 167, 172 Rationalism. See Linguistic rationalism Rational reconstruction in Carnap view, 51 dilemma in, 135 Reduction as analytic achievement, 191 and clarification, 45-46, 59, 66, 99, of mathematics to logic, 8, 11, 128, of object theory to background theory, 75 of philosophy to semantics, 152 of semantics to metaphysics, 102-106 Tarski's achievements in, 136, 143-144, 165, 168, 170-171, 175 Reference. See also Meaning Cornman on, 98-100, 101 and Davidson proposal, 173-175 and language acquisition, 176-177 vs. meaning, 107-109 Quine on, 93-95, 99, 100, 108, 111-115, 141 and Russell's correspondence theory, 125-127 and satisfaction, 138, 145 and semantic conception of truth, 116–123 in Tarski's definition, 136, 138, 164-165, 170-171 and truth, 165-173, 178, 183 Referential inscrutability and meaning, 169-170 and priority of truth, 172-173 Quine on, 43-47, 114 and Tarski relativity argument, 161-162 Relativistic thesis, 46-47. See also Ontological relativity and Carnap, 60-62 and Cornman, 99, 101-102 import of, xii, 80, 91-98, 170 vs. linguistic absolutism, 50 and ordinary language, 96 Relativity, ontological. See Ontological relativity Revisionary metaphysics, Strawson on, Rorty, Richard, 195 Rules of language. See also Conventionalism in Carnap's theory, 37-38, 50-55, 72, 77, 120-122 in Comman viewpoint, 98-100, 101 failure of "rules thesis," 75-76, 78 Russell, Bertrand analytic successes of, 8-10, 11, 128-130, 131 and Carnap attack, 58 correspondence theory of, 124-127, 135, 151-152 definite descriptions of, 9, 11 and form of language, 32-33 vs. Goodman, 30 and ideal language, 26, 27, 34-36 and Kantian dilemma, 26 logical atomism of, xii, 125-126 logically perfect language of, 126, 128, 129 logically proper names of, 168 on meaning, 109 and metaphysical categories, 79 and Tarski, 139, 151-152, 157, 159 on understanding language, 176 Ryle, Gilbert, xii, 32, 85

Satisfaction

in Davidson procedure, 175, 178-179 and ontological relativity, 145

and reference, 138, 145 in Tarski's definition, 136, 142, 144-145, 148, 151, 152, 155-157 Schlick, Moritz on language of science, 33 on meaning and truth, 21-24 as mystic, 25 and philosophic analysis, 3, 4, 80 and philosophic progress, 7 and protocol sentences, 131, 135 semantic analysis by, 131-132, 135 and Tarski, 159 and Wittgenstein, 97 Science, empirical and impulse to semantics and metaphysics, 105-106 interdependence of hypotheses in, 73-74 legislative postulation in, 72-74 and logical analysis, 8, 22-23, 38, 130-131, 134-135, 165 and logical truth, 72-73, 79 and metaphysics, 195 normative aspect of, 193 and philosophy, 21, 38, 188-195 positivists' treatment of, 2, 8, 22-24, 38 as self-conscious common sense, 188 Semantic conception of truth, 116-118 and analytic conception of language, and basic propositions, 131-132, 135 Carnap's formulation of, 120-122 and ontological relativity, 118-120 and positivists' dilemma, 135 and reference, 116-123 Russell's correspondence theory as, 124-127 and simple correspondence theory, 116, 117, 118 and Tarski's definition, 113, 135-138, 165-166, 168, 169 (see also Tarski's definition of truth) and truth-reference relation, 165-166 and Wittgenstein, 127-128

Semantic paradoxes and positivists' dilemma, 135 and natural languages, 145 Quine on, 113, 123, 139 Quine on, 111, 112 and semantics, 106, 138-140 and Tarski restriction, 155 and theory of reference, 111 Semantics. See also Logical analysis; and truth, 115, 123-124, 139 Meaning; Reference; Truth and Wittgenstein, 152, 159 and Carnap, 52, 68, 133-135, Tarski's definition of truth, 106, 137-138 145-152 Cornman's views on, 98-102 and analytic conception of language, function of, 184-187 and metaphysics, 102–106 and correspondence theory, 136, of ordinary language, 84-85 157-158 and philosophy, 186-187 Davidson's inversion of, 173-175, and positivists, 4 and Tarski, 106, 136-145, 172 and formal semantics, 172 Semiotic analysis of language, in and linguistic Kantianism, 157-158 Carnap proposals, 4 method of, 136, 140-145 Set theory and object-language strength, Quine on, 70-72 154-157 and Tarski restriction, 155-157 and ontological relativity, 158-164, Sextus Empiricus, 117 169, 170, 171 Socrates, and nature of philosophy, 7 and ordinary language, 153-154 Sophist (Plato), 124 philosophical dialogue on, 190 Spinoza, and ideal language, 19 Quine on, 156, 171 Strawson, P. F., xiii and reference, 136, 138, 164-165, on constructionism, 83-84 170–171 descriptive metaphysics of, 88, 89, 93 response to, 135-138, 152, 165-166, and implicit definition, 87 168 on understanding of expressions, 87, and Russell, 151–152, 157, 159 89, 94 satisfaction, 136, 142, 144-145, Structure of Appearance (Goodman), 148–151, 152, 155–157 and semantic conception of truth, Synonymy (likeness of meaning), 165-166, 168, 169 Quine on, 108, 109-111, 114, 115 Terminological discrepancies, 4 Syntax Theaetetus (Plato), 124 and Carnap, 52, 133-135, 137-138 Theology, positivist treatment of, 2 and positivists, 4 Theory. See also Hypotheses; Science, Synthetic truth, positivists on, 1–2 empirical "Systematically Misleading Kuhn on, 89–90 Expressions" (Ryle), 85 of philosophy, 190 of truth, 188-190, 194 Tarski, Alfred of types, 9 axiomatic definition of truth by, 189 Thompson, Manley, 6, 8 and Carnap, 120, 123, 137-138, 152, Toulmin, Stephen, xiii 153, 158 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus

(Wittgenstein), 87, 97, 127, 128

metamathematical results of, 36

Translation, and Carnap on logical truth, 69. See also Interpretation Translation, indeterminacy of. See Indetermination of meaning (translation) Translation, radical. See Radical translation Translation manuals, Quine on, 48, 96, 120, 122, 173, 174, 183 Truth. See also Tarski's definition of truth Aristotelian conception of, 117, 137, of atomic sentences, 131-132 Carnap on, 115, 120-122 correspondence theory of, 116, 124-127, 151 (see also Correspondence theory of truth) and Davidson proposal, 173-175 and meaning, 21-23, 176-179, 183 philosophy as theory of, 189 and Quine, 111-113, 119-120, 123, 145, 158, 174, 178 and reference, 165-173, 178, 183 semantic conception of, 116-118 (see also Semantic conception of truth) Tarski on, 115, 123-124, 139 Truth by convention. See Conventionalism, and logical truth "Truth by Convention" (Quine), 42 "Two Dogmas of Empiricism" (Quine), 42, 108-109, 111, 183

"Use, Usage, and Meaning" (Ryle), 85 Use of words in language learning, 176-177 vs. "usage," 85

Verification
in elimination of metaphysics, 1–2 and logical form, 10
and metaphysical commitment, 27
and Wittgenstein, 127 Vienna Circle, xi, xiii, 1. See also Positivism
and semantics, 137

and Wittgenstein, 128 von Neumann, John, 156

"Wahrheitsbegriff in den formalisierten Sprachen, Der" (Tarski), 145 Weyl, Herman, 104, 163 Whitehead, Alfred North, 8 Whorf hypothesis, xii, 90, 158 Wittgenstein and analysis, 3, 80, 131 on analytic truth, 3 antimetaphysical approach of, xiii and convention, 36 on formal system construction, 84 on "forms of life," 87-88 and ideal language, 26, 34-36 on language learning, 176 later vs. early, 84, 87 on limits of thought, 23, 24 and logical atomism, 125, 127 and logically perfect language, 128 on meaning, 27 as mystic, 25, 97 on ordinary language, 84 on ostensive definition, 87, 93 on philosophy, 9, 32, 128 on psychology, 24 and Quine's radicalism, 96, 97 and Russell's correspondence theory, 127, 128 and Tarski, 139, 152, 159 and truth, 117 on understanding of expressions, 85-88, 89, 94 Word and Object (Quine), 42, 159, 168, 169, 177, 181, 186

Zermelo-Fraenkel version of set theory, 156