

Index

- Aboutness, 6fn
- Active spatial representation (ASPAR),
  - 119, 147
  - externalist theory of, 179–204
- Adaptation, perceptual-motor, 187
- Adding new predicates, 15, 15fn
- Address, in computer, 67
- Affordance, perceiving, 111
- Aglioti, S., 118
- al-Kindi, 2
- Allocating attention, 61
- Allocentric space, ability to reach for
  - fixed points in, 199
- Allport, D. A., 193
- Alvarez, G. A., 89, 99, 182
- Ambiguous figures, explaining, 99
- Ames room illusion, 108, 109fn, 109–110
- Ames trapezoidal window, impossible motion, 55
- Amodal completion, and attention spread in, 64
- Analog movement of attention, 63
- Analog representation
  - of magnitudes, 169
  - problems in characterizing, 163fn
  - of space, 162–163, 163fn (see also Encrypted space)
- Anchoring imagined space to real perceived space, 182
- Andersen, R., 191, 195, 197, 199, 201, 203
- Animacy detection and natural constraints, 98
- Animated demos, URL, 33
- Annan, V., 182
- Anorthoscopic presentations, vs. visual perception, 142–143
- Anosognosia*, denial of impairments, 115
- Ant navigation, 175
- Anton's syndrome, 115
- Apparatus of concepts, 32
- Apparatus of individuation, 53
- Apparent motion, and correspondence problem, 46
- Apparent movement of attention,
  - alternative theory of, 63
- Appearances vs. beliefs, 99
- Architecture and constraints on explanatory mechanisms, 79
- Architecture- vs. representation-based explanation, 79
- Area painting, technique to judge “inside,” 24
- Aristotelian physics, in imagery, 129fn
- Array in a computer, as functional space, 127. See also Matrix
  - dense array of points, space as, 149
- Arsenio, H., 89
- Ashmead, D. H., 197
- Atherton, D., 84
- Attention, 34
  - adheres to and moves with objects, 65
  - and the binding problem, 85, 87

- Attention (cont.)
 as cause of visuomotor adaptation, 187
 cuing and movement, 62 and empty locations, 63 and figure-ground separation, 60 as filter (Broadbent), 60 locus of, for selection, 44 needed because of limited capacity, 60 not directed to phenomenal objects, 64 as perception-cognition interface, 59 selects objects for coordinate transformations, 196 spreads to cover perceived object, 64 Attentional priority, of tagged objects, 22, 23 resolution, 24, 25
 Attneave, F., 3fn, 77fn, 120, 133, 182
 Audet, D., 36, 89, 182
 Auditory localization and structured spatial information, 193
 Austen, E. L., 77fn
 Avant, L. L., 65, 190, 202
 Ayers, M., 51
- Bahrami, B., 37, 68, 182
 Baillargeon, R., 50
 Ball, T. M., 140
 Ballard, D. H., 22, 182, 189
 Ballistic movements, 200
 Bannon, L., 135
 Bartlett, F., 114
 Bartolomeo, P., 190, 198, 202
 Basketball, and use of indexes, 21, 22
 Batista, A. P., 194, 197, 203
 Baud-Bovy, G., 199
 Baylis, G. C., 64
 Bee navigation, 175
 Behrmann, M., 192
 Bekkering, H., 203
 Berkeley, G., 126
 Berlin, B., 100
- Berthoz, A., 198
 Best, C. T., 44
 Bibliography of MOT studies, 36fn
 Biederman, I., 70
 Binding arguments of predicates and motor commands to objects, 17, 34, 183 Binding problem, 61, 85 by collocation of properties, 87 and linking objects to object-files, 84 object-based selection to, 85 and occlusion, 84
 Bizzi, E., 195
 Black, A., 36
 Blake, R., 63fn
 Blaser, E., 40–41
 Blindsight, 115, 116
 Blind spots and scotomas, 115
 Block, G., 77fn
 Block, N., 107, 108, 110, 125
 Blocks world, 102
 Bly, B. M., 139
 Bonatti, L., 51, 98, 185fn
 Booth, K. S., 77fn
 Borisyuk, R., 84
 Bornstein, R., 116
 Boundary identification and object selection, 87
 Bracewell, R. M., 199 Brain space assumption of if spatial properties cited in explanation, 162 as explanation of spatial imagery effects, 139 as explanation of scanning effect, 158 option, defined, 162 problems with, 156
 Brandt, S. A., 139, 172, 179
 Brentano, F., 6fn, 8
 Brewer, B., 122, 148
 Bridgeman, B., 119, 192
 Broadbent, D., 44, 60, 199fn
 Brooks, L., 197

- Buchanan-Smith, H. M., 147
- Building blocks of spatial understanding, points, lines, and congruity, 150
- Buneo, C. A., 199, 203
- Burke, D., 200
- Burkell, J., 28, 84, 182
- Campbell, J., 29fn, 60, 94, 124, 173, 173fn
- Canon, I. K., 187
- Capturing generalizations, 2, 4
- Capturing (grabbing) indexes, 39, 44
- Cardinality of sets, 32
- Carey, S., 50–52, 94
- Carlson-Radvansky, L. A., 203
- Carrying information about something, 4
vs. representing, 74
- Cartesian coordinates, and conditions on ASPARs, 173
- Causality and agency, nonconceptual examples, 154 detection and natural constraints, 98 recognition by 6-month babies, 54
- Causal relation, effect on mental state, 89, 90
vs. information link, 57
vs. representational role, 73
- Cause, experiences as possible, 101
- Causes and codes, 68–69 attributable to format of ASPAR?, 173 of index grabbing, need not be encoded (conceptualized), 206
- Cavanagh, P., 24, 59
- Cell phone, as example of selecting without location, 81
- Cells in V1, distribution as explanation of oblique effect, 137–138
- Change blindness, 106
- Chapanis, A., 100
- Cheng, K., 176, 177
- Chiang, W.-C., 51
- Chieffi, S., 193
- Children, MOT in, 36
- Chokron, S., 190, 198, 202
- Chomsky, N., 152
- Christ, K., 190
- Churchland, P. M., 44
- Circadian cycle, example of internalization, 154
- Clarity vs. conviction of percept, 123
- Clark, A., 61, 72, 89, 92–94, 166fn, 167, 168
- Clatworthy, J. L., 44
- Closed world assumption, 106fn
- Clusters, as nonrepresented, 72
- Codes, extrinsic and intrinsic properties, 69
- Cognitive penetrability of perception, 44 of spatial representations, 164
- Cohen, E., 182
- Cohen, J., 63
- Coherence of representations, 15
- Colby, C. L., 191, 192, 196, 200, 201fn, 203
- Cole, J., 71, 200
- Collet, M., 175
- Collet, T. S., 175
- Collinearity, detecting, 24
- Colliot, P., 190, 198, 202
- Collocation of properties, binding conjunctions, 87
- Color mixing example in mental image, 129, 130
- Compliance and conscious contents
(experimenter or task demands), 108
- Computational vision, role in explicating visual module, 152
- Computing equivalence of motor actions, 166–168, 196, 198
- Concept(s) approximation to, 53 grounding of, based on nonconceptual indexing, 206
how connected to world, 1–4

- Conceptual representations and thoughts, 70–71
- Concurrent spatial perception and sense of space, 148, 178, 181, 182–186, 191, 201
- Conditional probability, finding property pairs, 80
- Conditions of individuation, 31, 46
- Conditions on active spatial representations (ASPARs), 169–173
- Conditions on spatial representation, 75–79
- Confabulation, widespread, 115
- Conjoined properties
  - marking of, 61
  - as necessarily “superimposed,” 93
- Conjunction detection among moving objects, 89
- Conjunction search, 28
- Conjunctions of features, finding, 87
- Connectedness of space (causal structure of space), 173
- Conscious and unconscious states, differences not principled, 145
- Conscious content and information processing, 72, 100, 110
- Conscious experiences
  - ambivalent role in vision science, 101
  - as containing interpretation and confabulation, 114
  - as justification of perceptual beliefs, 124
  - as level of representation, 144
  - of map-navigation, 174
  - as misleading source of evidence, 101
  - required for knowledge of demonstration, 124
  - of space, immersive and global, 149
  - whether we can be unaware of them, 106
  - and why things happen, 128
- Consciousness, Association for Scientific Study of, 103fn
- Consciousness of mental processes, 112
- Consciousness of things vs. facts, 105
- Conscious perceptual experience, as cognitively penetrable, 144, 145
- Conscious states, nonperceptual (intransitive), 143fn
- Constraint propagation method, in computational vision, 101
- Constraints, as reduction in free parameters, 98, 153, 154, 159, 161, 174
- Content, as condition on representing, 75
- Content of experience as a level of representation, 100, 104
- Content of representations, 1–8, 17–19, 69–70, 77–79
- Contiguity, as basis for association in Hume, 126
- Continuous movement of attention, questioned, 63
- Contour tracing, 24
- Conversion-on-demand principle, 196, 201
- Conviction and clarity, distinction blurred, 110
- Coordinate transformation, as efficient function of the brain, 168–169, 193–197, 199, 203
- Correspondence computation, model of, 54
- Correspondence problem, 12, 33, 46, 47
  - as a stage in MOT, 47, 49
  - as nonattentive, 49
  - as nonrepresentation, 75fn
- Cortical resolution, and image size, 132
- Counting vs. subitizing, 25
- Count nouns, 53
- Cramer, A. E., 176fn
- Crawford, J. D., 191, 194, 197
- Criteria of distinctiveness and reidentification, 53
- Cromwell, J. A., 137

- Cross-modal priming and interference, 171
- Cullicover, P., 153
- Currie, C. B., 29, 203
- Dales, L., 36, 89, 182
- Dalla Barba, G., 123
- Danckert, J., 37
- Data-driven (exogenous) attention switching, 61
- Davis, D. L., 197
- Dawson, M. R., 54, 77fn
- Deafferented patients, 71fn, 200
- Deford, J. K., 137
- Degrees of freedom, and explanatory power, 78
- Dehaene, S., 25
- Delay time of sensors, and storage, 84
- Demonstrative identification, 34, 92 reference, and FINSTs, 11, 29fn, 122 thoughts, and perception, 18
- Demonstratives, 16, 18, 19, 94, 95, 204
- De Morgan's cannon, 79fn
- Denis, M., 133, 159, 165, 183
- Dennett, D. C., 52fn, 110
- Dennis, J., 37, 182
- Depictive representation, 127, 156fn, 162
- Descartes, R., 6, 150
- Descriptions, definite, 14–16
- DeSouza, J. F. X., 118
- Despres, O., 190, 193
- Detection of patterns in a spatial display, 170 of properties and locations, 68
- Devitt, M., 79fn
- DeVos, J., 50
- Diagram, encoding, 10
- Di Lollo, V., 44
- Direct realism, theories (Gibson), 111
- Direct reference, and FINSTs, 29fn
- Disappearance, as cause of location encoding, 80
- Discontinuities in apparently blank regions of a scene, 189
- Distal and proximal stimuli, 5
- Distal causes of perceptual beliefs, 99
- Distance on image and scan time, due to “pretend seeing,” 133
- Distinguishable colors vs. potential concepts, 100
- Distractor objects (nontargets), 34
- Distribution of location, statistical, 89
- Dretske, F., 3, 6, 76fn, 82, 90fn, 105, 107, 108
- Driver, J., 48, 64, 66, 171
- “Droodles” (visual puns), 105
- Dubbing event intentional, vs. FINST grabbing, 96 for proper names, 6
- Dufour, A., 190, 193
- Duhamel, J.-R., 191, 200, 201fn, 203
- Dynamic systems theory, 75fn
- D’Zmura, M., 122
- Early vision, 13, 21, 33, 46, 95 and correspondence problem, 46 as site of object selection, 17
- Ebbinghaus illusion, 118
- Ecological niche, 53
- Eilan, N., 122, 148
- Elcock, E., 10
- Emmert’s law, failure of in imagery, 141
- Empty places and causal powers, 89 in depictive representations, 127 in mental images, 128 representation of in ASPARs, 172
- Encoding locations, and tracking, 36
- Encoding properties in MOT, 89fn as requiring focal attention, 206
- “Encrypted space” option, 157fn, 161–165
- Endogenous (voluntary) attention allocation, 61
- Enduring individuals, 33, 44, 49
- Enns, J. T., 44, 77fn

- Episodic theory of attention switching, 63
- Epstein, W., 101
- Equivalence classes, of motor actions, 166
- Error type, in tracking, 46
- Essock, E. A., 137
- Euclid, 150
- Evans, G., 34
- Evolutionary advantage of preestablished harmony, 154
- Exogenous (automatic) attention allocation, 61
- Experience
  - of conscious will, 112
  - constrained by format, 126
  - of imagery, similar to vision, 125–145 and seeing, 105, 111
  - of self as agent of others' actions (rubber hand illusion), 113
  - of why and how of personal actions, 114
  - of willing an action, 112, 113
- Experience, characterizing, 123
  - of change in position vs. other properties, 166, 166fn
  - during image scanning, 164
- Experience that vs. experience as of*, 113, 114
- Explanatory adequacy and image format, 127
  - advantage of representation, 78
  - gap in standard vision story, 1, 2
- Explicitly represented* rules, 123
- Expressing the contents of perceptual experience, 102
- Externalize representation (use of term), 151fn
- Eye, processes in, 6
- Eye-centered coordinates, 197
- Eye movements in examining a mental image, 139, 172, 179
- Fallibility, reports of content of experience, 103
- Farrar, P., 120, 133
- Farrell, M. J., 180, 193
- Feature integration theory (Treisman), 86–88
- Feature maps, 86
- Feature-placing language, 91, 93
- Feature space, tracking through, 40–41
- Fechner's law, 169
- Feeling-of-knowing (or not knowing), 116
- Felch, L., 129fn
- Feldman, J., 95, 98
- Figure-ground separation, and individuation, 31
- Filter theory of attention (Broadbent), 60
- Fine grain, argument for nonconceptual representations, 73
- Fingers (Poincaré), 167
- FINGs (FINSTed things), 56, 67, 91, 182
  - as possibly not a natural kind, 96
- Finke, R., 135, 187
- FINST (FINGers of INSTantiation) theory, 9, 13, 21, 23, 37, 51, 56, 182, 206
- FINST index
  - as allowing epistemic access to individual things, 206
  - as epistemic instrument, 29fn
  - as nonconceptual pointer, 206
  - as providing a direct reference to individuals, 96
- FINSTing
  - and argument binding, 23
  - duration of FINST binding, 39
  - and moving focal attention, 23
  - small number (4–5) available, 35
  - selecting moving objects, 89
  - sound sources, 197
  - why/when needed, 56
- Fisher, B. D., 77fn
- Fleishman, E. A., 200
- Flombaum, J., 48

- Focal attention and selection, 14, 59 and demonstrative reference, 206 use of in locating conjunctions of features, 89
- Fodor, J. A., 7, 14, 56, 72, 112, 124, 126, 128, 163fn proposed solution to the which link problem, 97fn
- Form of representation, as reflection of phenomenology, 122
- 4-D object(s), failure to imagine, 140fn
- Frame of reference, 10, 75, 76, 148, 191, 193, 194 allocentric, 148, 171, 179–181, 191–199, 204 multiple, 192–193, 195 peripheral, 194 transforming, 168–169, 193–197 (see also Coordinate transformation) unitary, 19, 179–180, 191–193 within one modality, many, 195
- Frame problem for spatial properties, ameliorated by literal spatial display, 158
- Franconeri, S. L., 37, 61, 77fn, 68, 80, 84, 182
- Free will, experience of, 112
- Frisby, J. P., 44
- Functional significance, phenomenology, 123
- Functional space proposal, 127, 156–165 and conditions on ASPARs, failure to meet, 173 as equivalent to brain space assumption, if simulating real space, 160, 165 and introspective evidence, failure to comport with, 164 not constrained, except by stipulation, 160, 173 relation  $time = distance/speed$  is unmotivated, 163 as simulation of real space, 160
- Gabor patches, tracking, 40–41
- Gain fields, and modification of coordinates by body position, 191
- Galilean physics in imagery, 129fn
- Galileo's (apocryphal) experiment at leaning tower of Pisa, 128
- Gallistel, C. R., 176, 176fn, 195
- Gandevia, S. C., 200
- Ganis, G., 131, 134, 137–138, 162
- Ganzfeld, structureless display, 190 and impairment of orientation, 66
- Gap in standard vision story, 1, 2
- Gazzaniga, M., 117
- Gelade, G., 86, 87
- Generalized objects, 40
- Gentaz, E., 137
- Geodesics in 6-D space, 155
- Geometrical-optical constraints, 10, 55
module in navigation, 176 thinking with images: example of slicing a rectangle, 181
- Geons; elements of shape, 70
- Gerbino, W., 105
- Gestalt clusters, 75fn
as nonconceptually computed, 71, 72, 77 principles, application of to neural layouts, 77fn
- Ghahramani, Z., 195, 199
- Gibbs, B. J., 38fn, 49, 66
- Gibson, J. J., 105, 111
- Gilchrist, A., 104, 145
- Gilden, D., 63fn
- Given, the, 103
- Gnadt, J. W., 199, 201
- Gold, M. E., 153
- Goldberg, M. E., 191, 192, 196, 200, 201fn, 203
- Goldman, A., 151fn
- Goodale, M., 118, 172, 191
- Goodman, N., 163fn
- Gordon, R. D., 29
- "Grabbing" an index, 39, 44, 67

- Grammaticality judgments and conscious contents, role as evidence, 146
- Grandmother cell, 86
- Grasping imagined objects, pantomimed movements, 172
- Graziano, M. S. A., 192
- Green, C. D., 103fn
- Gross, C. G., 192
- Grounding concepts, 51
- Gul, E., 84
- Gumperz, J., 144
- Gunther, Y. H., 72, 122
- Haladjian, H., 66, 183
- Hall, D. G., 50, 69, 177
- Halsey, R., 100
- Hand-centered frame of reference in vision, 193
- Hannus, A., 199
- Hansen, B. C., 137
- Haptic oblique effect, 137
- Hartje, W., 190
- Hatwell, Y., 137
- Haugeland, J., 52fn
- Hayhoe, M. M., 22, 182
- Heeley, D. W., 137
- Hierarchical encoding, 85
- Henriques, D. Y. P., 191, 199, 201, 201fn
- Hermer, L., 177
- Higher cognitive functions, in explanations, 79fn
- Higher order thoughts (HOTs), theory of consciousness, 108
- Hirsch, E., 51
- Hirstein, W., 115
- Hochberg, J., 4, 101
- Hoffman, D. D., 54, 122
- Hoffman, J. E., 36
- Holcombe, A. O., 40–41
- Hollingsworth, A., 61
- “Holy grail,” cause of behavior as, 7
- Homeomorphism and maps, 74, 76fn.
See also Neural layout
- Hood, B. M., 198
- Horn, B. K. P., 152
- Horowitz, T. S., 89
- How things look, as not constitutive of perception, 144
- Hubel, D. H., 138
- Hume, D., 4, 126
- Hummel, R. A., 152
- Humphreys, G. W., 22, 48, 182
- Huntley-Fenner, G., 51
- Hurst, G., 63, 63fn
- Husserl, E., 6fn
- Huttenlocher, J., 170
- Hysteresis in sensors, and storage, 84
- Iconic storage, nonconceptual, 73
- Identification of objects, by identifying their locations, 79
- Identity of individuals, 21fn
- Identity of targets in MOT, recall of, 45
- Identity tracking, 13
- Illusion of automatic mental image dynamics, 119
- Illusion of free will, 112
- Image(s), 120. See also Mental image and activation of the retina, 139 as constructed from description, not visually recognized, 142, 143fn cortex and explanation of imagery, 136–137 determination of its behavior by individual, 130 different properties of when eyes open, 190 dynamics, architecture or tacit knowledge, 130 as engaging the motor system, 172 as essentially 3-D, 141 as fixed in extrapersonal space, 139 as intentional objects, 141 not reinterpreted by vision, 141–142

- not retinotopic, 139
- scanning, in functional space, stipulated, 158
- scanning of, problems with, 133–134, 140, 165
- size effect and assumed amount of visible detail, 131–132
- size of, question of sense, 132
- superimposed on vision, problems with, 141
- Image format, vs. language of thought, 127
- Imagining
  - and attentional movement, 63, 63fn
  - of 4-D space, reason for failure of, 140fn
  - implicit imagery task, to “pretend see,” 133
  - pointing from a new vantage point, 179
  - as pretend seeing, 120, 133
  - as seeing, suggesting there is something that is seen, 126
- Impossible figure perception, when parts are off-fovea, 142
- Impossible motion, perception of, 55
- Inattentional blindness, 106
- Index(es)
  - as anchoring objects of thought in real space, 182
  - assigned to visible objects, 185
  - vs. attention, are 4–6 of them (this<sub>1</sub>, this<sub>2</sub>, this<sub>3</sub>), 206
  - as binding predicate arguments to things, 95, 206
  - as demonstrative reference, 206
  - as functioning like name, indexical, or demonstrative, 16fn
  - importance of to visual-motor skills, 21
  - as “marking” objects, can be visually detected, 182
- Indexical locative here, and selection under a concept, 17, 91
- Indexing of empty locations, 189
  - as requiring an information channel, 83
  - selection without use of location, 80
- Index projection hypothesis, 148, 179, 181
  - in nonvisual modalities, 197–201
- Individuals (Strawson), 53
- Individuate, 31
  - note on use of term, 21fn
- Individuate and track, two stages in MOT, 21
- Individuating, act of
  - as a function of indexes, 206
  - of faces, 51
  - vs. identifying, 50–51
  - as selecting space-time “worms,” 49
- Inertia, of sensor, vs. storage, 84
- Infants
  - as able to individuate and track, 49–52
  - as sensitive to cardinality (for  $n \leq 3$ ), 50
  - as using color to individuate, but not to recognize, 69
- Information, as correlation and entropy, 3, 3fn
- Informational link, and dependency, 18, 82
  - required for assigning and maintaining indexes, 81
- Ingle, D., 202
- Inhibition
  - moving nontargets, 46–48
  - of return, object-based, 48, 66
- Inhibitory neural connections, as explanation of “image size” effect, 131
- Intensional vs. causal relation, 6, 7
- “Intensional” vs. “intentional,” meaning and use of terms, 6fn
- Intention to move to X, representation of, 200
- Intermediate frames of reference, retained, 194

- Internal “functional space” proposal, 127, 156
- Internalizing spatial constraints (Marr, Shepard), 151–155 externalist, behaviorist approach, 151 kinematic geometry (Shepard), 155 only principles/constraints internalized, 155
- Interpenetration of solids, permitted by natural constraints, 55
- Interpretation of observations as guided by theories, 146
 as guided by natural constraints, 205
- Interrupt, 17, 42, 68–69, 89, 95 as illustrating bottom-up stage, 17, 42 as not encoding its cause, 68 vs. test in computers, 17, 68–69, 84
- Intrilligator, J., 24
- Introspective method, 103
- Inverted image, problem of, 2, 4
- Inverted image experience, dependence on how produced, 145
- Irwin, D. E., 29
- Ishai, A., 202
- Iverson, G. J., 122
- Jackson, F., 61, 85
- Jacobson, J. S., 172
- Johnson, D. N., 182
- Johnson, S. P., 31
- Jolicoeur, P., 134
- Jones, E., 22, 182
- Jordan, M. I., 195, 199
- Judgment of location, on viewed vs. imagined figure, 186, 187
- Julesz, B., 47
- Justification of perceptual beliefs, consciousness as, 124
- Justification of P vs. justification of making the claim that P, 124
- Kahneman, D., 38fn, 49, 65
- Kanizsa, G., 105
- Kant, I., 150
- Kaplan, D., 86
- Kappers, A. M. L., 137
- Kargon, R., 129fn
- Karnath, H. O., 190, 199
- Kay, P., 100
- Kazanovich, Y., 84
- Keane, B., 53, 80, 84, 93
- Keeble, S., 98
- Keeping track of token things, 12, 34
- Keillor, J. M., 172
- Kepler, J., 2, 6, 120, 121, 150
- Kinematic geometry, 155, 155fn
- Kinetic depth effect, 47
- Klein, R. M., 48
- Klier, E. M., 197
- Koch, C., 75fn, 153fn
- Koenderink, J. J., 137, 152
- Kohler, P., 75
- Kolers, P. A., 47, 75
- Kosslyn, S. M., 124–125, 127, 130fn, 131–135, 137–140, 140fn, 156fn, 159, 162, 183–184, 198
- Krekelberg, B., 202
- Kripke, S., 6, 68
- Krojgaard, P., 50
- Kuhn, T., 129fn
- Label consistency (constraint), 101, 205
- Labeling, parts of diagram, 19
- Labels as contents of perceptual representation, 102
- Labels on targets, recalling, 45
- Lackner, J. R., 187
- Làdavas, E., 192, 193
- Landau, B., 36
- Landmarks, direction-specific use of by ants, 175, 177
- Laws of color mixing, 7, 129, 130. See also Color mixing
- Leonard, C., 183
- Lepore, E., 18
- Leslie, A. M., 50, 54, 55, 69, 98, 154, 177
- Levels of explanation, 2, 145

- Levin, D. T., 106
- Levine, J., 97
- Levinson, S., 144
- Levy, J., 202
- Lewis, D., 163fn
- Libet, B., 112, 199
- Lightness and color, conscious experience of, 145
- Lindberg, D. C., 2, 150
- Lines and vertices, 10–11
- Linguistic categories (NP, VP, A) as subpersonal, 71
- Liu, G., 77fn
- Local support, processes using, 47, 47fn, 75fn
- Locating
  as basis of selection, 14, 81 in an image, question of, 180 of image, in extrapersonal allocentric space, 179
  and individual, confounded, 80 of intended motor actions, represented, 198, 203
  and shape, problem of, 86
  as specified in depictive representation, 127 updating and tracking, strategy of, 36
- Location on a neural layout, what it represents, 76 used within a perception module, 84
- Locke, J., 126
- Locus of reconstruction of visual experience, 121
- Loffler, G., 137
- Long-term memory for spatial information in navigation, 175
- Looking time method, 50
- Lormand, E., 106
- Luce, R. D., 122
- Ludwig, K., 18
- MacCarthy, R. A., 148
- Mack, A., 106, 119
- Madigan, S. C., 129fn
- Magnet, example of selection without location, 81
- Magnitudes, nonconceptual, 72 analog representation of, 170 encoding by the dorsal visual system, 118, 192
  representation of, 169
- Manuel, S., 44
- “Many properties” problem, 61
- Map(s) feature maps (feature integration theory), 86–88
  ASPARs as, 175
  master map for coordinating feature maps, 86–88
  road map, misrepresentation in, 76fn and lack of specification of landmarks, 176 what (who) interprets the map, 76fn what makes something a map, 76,
  76fn, 173–179
- Maplike behavior, taking shortcuts and detours, 174, 177, 178
- Mapping (function), 3, 5, 53
  retinotopic, 74
  world-to-neural-layout, 76
- Marking objects, 22, 23, 182
- Marotta, J. J., 191, 194
- Marr, D., 13, 23, 33, 52fn, 76fn, 105, 152, 205
- Maruff, P., 37
- Master map (feature integration theory), 86, 87
- Mather, J. A., 187
- Matrix data structure, as functional space, 159. See also Array and representation of empty places, 160 as seeming natural for representing space, 160
- Mazzoni, P., 197, 199
- McCarthy, R. A., 122
- McCloskey, M., 129fn
- McConkie, G. W., 203

- McDaniel, K. D., 115
- McDaniel, L. D., 115
- McKenna, F. P., 188, 189
- McLeod, D. I. A., 137
- McMahon, M. J., 137
- Medendorp, W. P., 191, 194
- Meltzoff, A., 171
- Memorized map, imagined, 184
- Memory images, already interpreted, 142
- Memory representations, reconstructions, 99
- active spatial memory (ASPAR), 169
  - as conceptual, 208
  - distinct from inertial lag of sensors, 84, 85
  - iconic, rehearsal memory, 199fn
  - long-term, 13
  - persisting location memory, 202
  - working, 10
- Mental image. See also Image
- event dynamics, due to tacit knowledge, 129
  - form of, assumptions about, 126
  - as having real metrical distance, 184
  - principles governing dynamic events, 128–139
  - scope as “cycloramic” (360°), 120, 133
  - single-point-of-view constraint, 155fn, 156fn
  - size of, vs. size of neural display, 131, 132
  - as stable panoramic display, 120
  - what is special about underlying representations, 124
- Mental rotation affected by motor gestures, 198
- Mental scanning and “imagining seeing,” 133–134, 183, 186
- Mental screen, 131
- Menzel, R., 174, 178
- Metcalfe, J., 116
- Metrical and Euclidean axioms, relation to ASPARs, 172
- Metrical properties of spatial representations, 157
- Metzler, J., 170fn
- Michotte tunnel effect, relation to ASPARs, 54, 113, 173
- Milner, D., 118, 191
- Mirror-image ambiguity, in map representations, 176
- Misperception
- by neural layouts, 75, 77fn
  - problem of, 76fn, 112
  - signature of representation, 73
- Mitchell, J. F., 176fn
- Mitroff, S. R., 66, 183
- Mittelstaedt, H., 200
- Molyneux problem*, cross-modal pattern recognition, 171
- Moore, C., 64
- MOT (multiple object tracking), 34–58
- explanation of tracking, 39–40
  - list of publications (URL), 36
  - performance of subjects, 37
  - simulated updating strategy, 37
- Motion of objects in MOT, unpredictable (different types), 35
- apparent, 33, 46–49, 54
- Motion through adapted region, imagined and real, 63fn
- Motivation for picture-theory, phenomenology as, 125
- Motor action(s), interference with spatial recall, 197
- Motor-action equivalence classes (Poincaré), 166
- Motor intentions, 197
- Motor skills, and representation, 72
- Mounds, J. R., 44
- Mouse whiskers, as example of size effect, 131
- Movements of imagined objects, 172
- Moving attention, and FINSTs, 39
- Moving hand to eye-centered locations, 199fn

- Mueller, H. J., 62
- Müller-Lyer illusion, 29
- Multimodal indexes, 182
- Multiple attention loci and FINSTs, 60
- Multiple object tracking. See MOT
- Multiplying large numbers, phenomenology of, 124
- Multiscale information in navigation, 175
- Mussa-Ivaldi, F. A., 195
- Musseler, J., 199
- Nadal, J.-P., 167fn
- Nadel, L., 195fn
- Natural constraints, 52, 53, 54, 76fn, 152, 205
on mental imagery, 56, 56fn
- Naturalizing semantics, 8
- Navigation, and spatial representation, 173–179
online measurement, 175 route-planning, offline, 176fn and short-cuts, 175
when no perceived landmarks, 177
- Necker cube, change in appearance of,
99, 100
- Neggers, S. F., 203
- Neglect
tactile exploration as shifted vs.
neglected, 190 unilateral spatial, altered by concurrent
perception, 190
- Neural layout (NL), homeomorphic, 74–
77, 193fn
and multiple frames of reference, 192 and representation, 74
- Neural network, implementation of indexing, 83
- Neural pathways, 6
- Newell, A., 114
- New Look movement in perception, 144
- Newsome, W. T., 201
- Nico, D., 198
- Nicod, Jean, 150
- Nisbett, R. E., 115
- Nissen, M.-J., 79
- Noë, A., 105, 167fn
- Noles, N. S., 66, 183
- Nonaccidental property, 54
- Nonconceptual access, and FINSTs, 1–9, 18, 56
- Nonconceptual content, and indexes, 69, 207
- Nonconceptual grounding, need for, 57, 58, 90
for link between vision and world, 1–18, 69, 122
- Nonconceptual individuating and tracking, 46, 49
- Nonconceptual representations, 1–9, 18, 56, 69, 207 as iconic, 99
as perceptually derived, 99 and unconscious contents, 72
- Nonrepresented properties, 71
- Nonvisual modality and indexes (Anchors), 183
- Northington, A., 197
- Noticing and encoding, 31 over time, 10
- Numerical identity, 32–33, 80
- Oberle, C. D., 129fn, 167fn
- Object(s) as bearers of properties, 17 concept of, 32, 51, 57 imagined as being out there in the world, 179
priming, and attention spread, 64 properties of, encoded in MOT, 68 selected without use of location, 14, 80
- Object files, 37–40, 49, 51
- Object-specific priming benefit (OSPB), 65

- Oblique effect, observed in imagery, 137–138
- Occam's razor, 79fn
- O'Connell, D. N., 47
- Off-foveal images, not visually interpreted, 142
- Offline navigation, route-planning, 176fn
- Ogawa, H., 48
- O'Hearn, K., 36
- O'Keefe, J., 195fn
- Optics of the eye, 2
- O'Regan, K., 167fn
- Orientation
- poor in low gravity, 190, 191
  - use of vision, audition, proprioception, and other sensors, 198
- Orientation-sensitivity of cells, as derived from their connection to retinal cells, 137–138
- “Our kind of world” (natural constraints), 53, 54
- Paillard, J., 123, 148
- Pairwise translation between multiple frames of reference, 194
- Pandemonium, 85
- Panoramic display theory of vision, falsity of, 120
- Particulars, identifying, 52
- Pashler, H., 79
- Patches of color, edges of light and shadow, 111
- Path integration, in navigation, 175
- Pattern(s)
- detection of in spatial display, by template matching, 170
  - explicit in a depictive representation, 127
- Peacocke, C., 16fn, 92, 123, 173fn
- Pebayle, T., 190, 193
- Peephole nature of visual input, 100
- Pelisson, D., 119
- Percept(s)
- incremental construction of, 10–14
  - and stimulus, independence of, 73
- Perception
- cognitively impenetrable, 144
  - constructed over time, 12
- Perceptual beliefs as abstract, categorical, variable grained, 99
- concepts inadequate for perception (e.g., color), 100
- Perceptual experience, 104
- Perceptual presence, 105
- Peripersonal frame of reference, 192
- Perl, T., 36
- Perry, J., 19
- Phenomenal (P) and access (A)
- consciousness, 107
- Phenomenal experience
- does not capture functional information, 123
  - of mental image, 125–145
  - vs. nonphenomenal consciousness, 106
  - of seeing, as a reconstruction, 120
- Phenomenology of “savant” process, 123
- Philipona, D., 167fn
- Physics examples, imagining, 128–130
- Picking out, two stages of, 29
- Picture theory and the intentional fallacy, 121, 122, 125
- Pinker, S., 135
- Pittman, T., 116
- Place cells in rat hippocampus, acts like a GPS, 195fn
- Plan generation, reactive plans in artificial intelligence, 176, 178fn
- Plasticity of imaginal thinking, problem of, 154
- Plastic Man, 182
- Plastic man, fingers, 13, 14, 37
- Podgorny, P., 186
- Poggio, T., 153fn
- Poincaré, H., 150, 165

- Pointers
 in computers, 67, 81–82 and functional space, 67 and locations, 67
 as singular terms, 67
- Pointing to things in one's image, 172
- Pook, P. K., 22, 182
- Poor knowledge of causes of own behavior, 115
- Popout search, in subset, 28
- Posner, M. I., 62
- Post-constancy and post-filling-in, 104
- Potential motor commands, 203
- Pouring or slinking motion, failure to track, 96
- Preblanc, C., 119
- Precategorical storage, nonconceptual, 73
- Pre-constancy unconscious states, making conscious, 145
- Predicates, 52
- Preparation for making a motor gesture, as distinct stage, 197, 199
- "Pretend seeing," implicit task of, 133
- Prevor, M., 50
- Price, R., 105
- Primal sketch, 72
- Priming in MOT, 66
- Primitive tracking, 34
- Prinz, W., 199
- Problem-solving (thinking out loud) protocols, 114
- Productivity, 8fn
- Program of motor commands, as distinct from action, 200
- Properties of indexed objects encoded as properties of objects, 85 as encoded and stored in object files, 207 as not encoded, 90
 as not a natural kind, 96 as responsible for tracking, 68, 68fn used by for individuating but not recognizing, 50
- Property P at location R, feature-placing language frame, 93
- Property space, tracking through, 40–41
- Propositional attitudes, 70
- Proprioceptive FINSTs ("anchors"), 197
- Proprioceptive properties, unconscious, 70
- Proprioceptive signals, equivalence classes of define "objects," 204
- Proximal clusters, arising from same distal cause, 46
- Psychophysical complementarity
 (Shepard), 154
- Pulfrich pendulum illusion, 55
- Pylyshyn, Z. W., 7, 13, 14, 21fn, 25, 28,
 29, 36, 37, 40–41, 44, 45, 48, 52, 52fn,
 54, 58, 63, 65, 66, 68, 70, 73, 75fn,
 77fn, 78, 80, 83, 84, 85, 95, 102, 105,
 112, 123, 126, 128, 136, 139, 152,
 161, 163fn, 167fn, 170fn, 180, 182
- Pylyshyn's razor, 78fn
- Pythagorean theorem, applied to spatial representation, 157
- Qualitative locations of imagined objects, for indexing real objects, 183
- Quantitative representation of space, 149, 157
- Quantized display, problems with, 161fn
- Quine, W. V. O., 52, 86, 93, 94
- Quint, N., 50
- Rabbitt, P. M., 62
- Random dot stereogram, 47
- Rao, R. P. N., 22, 182
- Rauschenberger, R., 62
- Reaching for a moved spot, 119
- Reacting vs. encoding, 68
- "Reading off" properties from mental image, 124
- "Reading off" properties from spatial representation, 157

- Real space and principled spatial properties, 127
- Reasons we believe we do things, confabulation, 115
- Recall target labels/locations in MOT, failure to, 45
- Receptive field neuron anticipates intended movement, 200
- Recognizing cardinality, role of early vision, 53
- Recognizing which token is which, 10, 11
- Record of locations, in tracking, 40
- Red fire engine cell, problems about, 8fn
- Reference demonstrative, 17–22, 67, 92–94, 112, 124 and focal attention, 59 to individuals, without using their properties, 23
 vs. individuating, 49 to objects, not locations, 67, 69 relation of, 5
- Region selection, requires object selection, 93
- Registering vs. representing, 74
- Registration, neural layout as, 75fn. See also Neural layouts
- Regularization, as a general mathematical constraint, 153fn
- Rehearsal memory, 199fn
- Reidentification of objects, by FINSTs, 13, 32
- Reification of perceptual experience, 120
- Reiser, B. J., 140
- Relational predicates, indexes and, 22
- Relevance problem, partly solved with real spatial representation, 158
- Remapping, only needed for attended objects, 201
- Rensink, R. A., 44, 77fn, 106, 196
- Replica, 3-D, not worse than 2-D picture, 125fn
- Reporting by early vision, of properties, 86
- Reports of conscious contents, problems with, 108
- Representational content, 3–5
- Representational momentum, in imagery, 131
- Representation of shape, size, orientation, in a depictive representation, 127
- Representations and explanations, 75–76 as referring to fictional objects, 181 of space, problem of, 148 of visible surfaces ( $2\frac{1}{2}$ -D sketch), 105 strong sense, 78
- Re-recognizing tokens, 12
- Resemblance, as reference in a depictive representation, 127 failure as a basis for semantics, 126
- Residual effect, multiple frames of reference, 194
- Retinal disparity, correspondence problem in, 46
- Retinal image (Kepler), 2
- Retinal vs. perceived size, no conscious experience of, 145
- Retinotopic map, 74
- Reversibility of visual motion by motor actions, 166, 167fn
- Reynolds, J. H., 176fn
- Richness of phenomenal experience of seeing, 100
- Right-hemisphere confabulation to explain left-hemisphere actions, 117
- Robertson, I. H., 198
- Robinson, J. O., 55
- Rock, I., 101, 106
- Romney, A. K., 123
- Rosenfeld, A., 152
- Rosenthal, D., 107fn, 108
- Rosenthal, D., 123
- Rossetti, Y., 199fn

- Rubin-Spitz, J., 44
 Russell, B., 15, 150fn
- Saarinen, J., 36
 Saccade, as following actual (not illusory) motion, 119
 Sagi, D., 202
 Salimando, A., 51
 Salinas, E., 191
 Sameness of location, as demonstrative identification, 93
 Sapir-Whorf Hypothesis, 144
 Sartre, J.-P., 6fn
 Satisfaction, relation of, 5, 7, 8
 Savant, report of experience of, 124
 Scalar variability (variance/magnitude is constant), 169
 Scanning effect, 134–136
 Scenario content, 92, 123
 Schindler, I., 190
 Scholl, B. J., 36fn, 37, 48, 51, 66, 68, 80, 84–85, 95, 98, 182–183 Seeing building vs. façade, 105 and imagining, parallel between, 133 small details in a “small image,” 132 Selecting
   because of P vs. as P, 90fn and the binding problem, 60 and consciousness, 94
   by location, 79 necessary to individuate and refer, 60 physical objects, 91 reasons for, 59–61
   as requiring an information link, 82 of things vs. places, 60 under no description, 90 voluntary vs. automatic, 24 without knowing location, examples of, 81 without knowing what is selected, 90
 Selective attention, as object-based, 64
 Selfridge, O., 85
- Sellars, W., 103
 Semantic vs. causal relations, 5
 Sensation
   as feature-placing, 92, 93 as having no predicates, identity, divided reference, or tenses, 92 Sense of space, 167 concurrent spatial stimulation needed, 179–204 creating, from sensory information, 150 Sensors, 7
 Sensory geometry (sensible geometry, Nicod), 150 Sensory individuals, 9 and experience, 92
   as nonconceptual representation, 92 processes, and space-time regions, 92
 Sethi, N., 36
 Shadlen, M. N., 201
 Shapiro, L., 84
 Shepard, R., 154, 170fn, 186
 Shimamura, A. P., 116
 Short-term nonconceptual memory, vs. sensor inertia, 16fn, 39, 73, 84, 207
 Signal detection theory, separating bias and sensitivity, 108 Similarity in appearance, as basis for semantics, 3–5
 Simon, H., 114
 Simons, D. J., 61, 106
 Simple, complex, and hypercomplex cells, 85
 Simplicity, in choosing among theories, 79fn
 Simulating updating strategy, in MOT, 37
 Simultaneous neglect in different frames of reference, 192
 Single object advantage, 41, 64
 Single spatial frame of reference, assumption of, 171, 191

- Singleton feature selection, and focal attention, 44
- Size effect of image, functional space does not explain, 164
- Size illusion, and familiarity (in Ames room), 110
- Skinner, B. F., 152
- Slezak, P., 142
- Smith, A. D., 111
- Smith, B. C., 33
- Snyder, L. H., 191, 195, 197, 203
- Sortal concept, 31, 51, 53
- Sound localization improved with visual input, 190
- Sound patterns, 70
- Source of principles for image properties, cognitive architecture, 127
- Space. See also Sense of space; Spatial properties of images; Spatial representation(s)
- as part of architecture, but not literal, 161–165
  - as dense array of points and lines, 149
  - formalism, no role if constraints are extrinsic, 160, 161
  - as receptacle, 149
  - represented qualitatively in long-term memory, 208
- Spatial properties of images, 147
- as deriving from layout in brain space, 181
  - as deriving from indexing of perceived objects, 181, 208 (see also Active spatial representation [ASPAR])
  - as deriving from tacit knowledge, 181
  - inheritance of from concurrently perceived scene, 182
- Spatial recall, 197
- Spatial relations, unaccountable for by brain space, 158fn
- Spatial representation(s)
- competence with does not depend on concepts, 149
  - concurrent spatial inputs in, 148, 178, 181, 182–186
  - constraints, theories of Marr, Shepard, 151–155
  - dynamic properties of, 158
  - externalist theory of, 179–204
    - and motor actions, impairment of recall by, 197–198
  - multimodal, dependent on coordinate transformations, 198
  - paralogic use of, 158
  - sense and the frame stability problem, 199
    - and sensorimotor coordination, 165
    - updated by moving without vision, 180
- Spatiotemporal regions (worms), traced out by objects, 89
- Spelke, E., 51, 177
- “Spelke object,” defined, 51–52
- Spence, C., 171
- Sperling, G., 62, 73, 199fn, 202
- Split brains, 117
- Split visual system (ventral vs. dorsal system), 118
- S-R compatibility effect (Simon effect version), 188
- Starbucks cartoon, Sipress, 20
- Stark, L. W., 139, 172, 179
- States of knowledge and problem behavior graph, 114
- Stein, Gertrude, 180
- Stereovision, correspondence problem in, 46
- Stimulus error, in introspection, 103
- Stimulus-to-appearance mapping, ambiguity of, 99
- “Storage” due to sensor latency, not representational memory, 73, 148
- Storm, R., 37
- Strawson, P., 32, 52–53, 86, 91, 93
- Stricanne, R. A., 197, 199
- Structure from: motion, shading, stereo, contours, 153

- Studdard-Kennedy, M., 44
- Subitizing, requires automatic individuation, 25
- Subpersonal codes, 69 concepts, 52fn representations, of proximal properties, 70
- Subset search, 28
- Subset selection and FINSTs, 19, 28–29 retained despite eye movement (Currie), 29
- Sugar, T. G., 129fn
- Sukel, K. E., 139
- Sundberg, K. A., 176fn
- Superimposed objects, tracking, 40–41
- Swets, J. A., 145
- Systematicity, 8fn
- Tacit knowledge, and explanation of image properties, 127–139
- Tacit theories and our understanding of conscious experience, 101
- Tactile stimuli, located in 3-D extra-personal space, 171
- Tagging objects, 22, 23
- Tags vs. FINSTs, 23
- Takeda, Y., 48
- Tammatt, Daniel, 124
- Target objects
vs. distractors, 34 identified by blinking, 35 indicated by horizontal/vertical bars, 42
- Target-target vs. target-nontarget confusion, 46, 48
- Task demands, of image scanning experiments, 164
- Template matching, 170
- Tenses (distinguishing this-now and this-before), 32, 53
- Their, P., 191
- “There it is again” vs. “here is a new one,” 15
- Things, need to pick out individual, 9
- Thistlewaite, W. A., 137
- Thompson, W. L., 131, 134, 137–138, 162
- Thomson, J. A., 180, 193
- Thoughts in dogs or chimpanzees, 56
- 3-D model of world, 125f
- 3-D scanning and rotation, 170, 170fn
- Three-term series problems, 170
- “Time = distance/speed” only applies to real space, 134
- “Time = representation of distance/representation of speed,” 159
- Time measures in imagery experiments, 129, 131, 136
- Time-to-contact estimation skill, 63
- Time to report details, and image size, 131
- Tip-of-the-tongue phenomenon, 116
- Tipper, S., 48, 66, 192
- Titchener, E. B., 103
- Tlauka, M., 188, 189
- Token element, same over time, 38
- Token individual, 10, 38. See also Object(s); FINGs (FINSTed things)
- Tokens, need to represent and refer to, 10
- Tolman, E., 174, 177
- Tootell, R. B., 139
- Top-down construction of image, 125
- Top-down vs. bottom-up, 3, 17
- Topographical projection, 5
- Torre, V., 153fn
- Tracking, 182. See also MOT (multiple object tracking) conditions for, 33 in feature space, 41
as function of early vision, 52, 85 individual things, 15
vs. label recall, 46
nonflashed objects, in MOT, 42
as requiring FINSTs, 206

- Tracking (cont.)
 role of, 33 when object disappears behind occluding surface, 33
- Transducer, 7, 8
- Treisman, A., 38fn, 49, 61, 65, 86, 87, 86, 87
- Tremoulet, P. D., 50, 69, 98, 177
- Tresillian, J. R., 63
- Triangle inequality, in spatial representation, 157
- Triangulation, to solve “which link” problem, 97fn
- Trick, L., 25, 36, 84, 89, 182
- Tsang, E., 102
- Tuning fork example, selecting without locating, 82
- Turing machine architecture, 78
- $2\frac{1}{2}$ -D representation (Marr), 72
- Tye, M., 125
- Tyrrell, R. A., 202
- Ullman, S., 22, 23, 47fn, 75fn, 77fn, 83, 182
- Unawareness of unexpected events, 106 of inferred properties (negation as failure), 106fn
- Unconscious perceptual processes, 144
- Understanding, goal of, 2
- Unilateral spatial neglect (USN), 190 in many different frames of reference, 192
- Unique description, problem of finding, 12
- Unitary amodal frame of reference, 168 first-person experience of space, 171 frame of reference, not necessary, 191 global representation, not needed, 171
- Universal Turing machine, 78
- Universal Grammar (UG), 153, 205
- Updating coordinates of imagined objects, when we move, 179
- Updating descriptions, 15fn
- Updating locations, method of tracking in MOT, 36
- Updating of pointing, by moving, 193
- Valins, S., 115
- Van de Walle, G., 50
- vanMarle, K., 51, 95
- Vaughan, B., 64
- Ventral-dorsal visual systems, 191
- Vervet monkey, 176
- Violation of expectation, method, 50
- Virtual space, 158–165. See also Functional space
- Visetti, Y.-V., 123
- Vision, required for observing unilateral spatial neglect, 198
- Vision module, early vision, 33, 95
- Visual angle of mind’s eye, 131–133 appearance, as panoramic and finegrained, 99
 cortex and explanation of imagery, 136–137
 index theory (FINST theory), 9, 34 information, peephole view, 120 memory task and mental imagery, 135 objects, 9 (see also Object(s); FINGs [FINSTed things]) persistence in extrapersonal space, 202 representation of visible surfaces ( $2\frac{1}{2}$ -D sketch), 105 routines (Ullman), 23, 24 short-term memory, as visual workspace, 169fn
- Visual systems, recognition and motor control, 118
- Visual-tactile frames, move together in extinction, 192
- Visuomotor adaptation to wedge prism, 187
- Visuomotor (dorsal) system not susceptible to illusions, 118
- Viviani, P., 199

- Volumes, volume-inclusion, spatial axioms (Nicod), 151
- Voluntarily enabled interpretation, selection, 42, 44
- V1, homeomorphic mapping of retinal activity in, 139
- von Grunau, M., 47
- Von Holst, E., 200
- Voss, P., 197
- Wallach, H., 47
- Waltz, D., 102
- Wang, H., 197
- Warren, D. H., 190, 191, 193
- Washburn, A., 129fn
- Washburn, M. F., 103
- Watson, D. G., 22, 48, 182
- Watt, D. G. D., 191
- Weaver, B., 48, 66
- Weber-Fechner law, 169
- Wegner, D., 112
- Wehner, R., 177
- Weichselgarter, E., 62
- Weisel, T. N., 138
- Weiskrantz, L., 116
- Well-defined features, may not be tracked, 95
- Wertheimer, M., 75
- Wexler, K., 153, 198
- “What do you see?” problem of meaning of, 102, 103, 111
- What FINSTs select, 94
- What is an object, question of, 57
- What it is like* vs. accessible information, in consciousness, 107
- Where’s Waldo?* game, 48
- Which link* in a causal chain does the FINST refer to, 96, 97
- Whorf, B. L., 144
- Why images have the properties they do, question of, 181
- geometrical axioms appear to be respected by image, 181
- does space have 3 dimensions, question of (Poincaré), 167
- Wiggins, D., 51
- Wilkinson, F., 137
- Wilson, H. R., 137
- Wilson, J. A., 55
- Wilson, T. D., 115
- Window on the mind*, mental scanning as, 133, 165
- Wired-in capacities, architecture, 53
- Wittrich, W. J., 108
- Wolfe, J. M., 89
- Wolpert, D. M., 195, 199
- Wong, E., 119
- Woodlin, M., 193
- Wright, J. S., 137
- Wright, R. D., 77fn
- Wynn, K., 51
- Xu, F., 32, 50, 51, 94
- Yagi, A., 48
- Yantis, S., 22, 64, 182
- Yellow Brick Road, location of, 181
- Zooming in* on a mental image, 124, 131
- Zucker, S. W., 152

